HOW THE GERMANS FOSTER TRADE.

A prominent feature connected with the higher interests of German industry in its relation to applied science is the 'Central Stelle,' established in connection with the manufacture of explosives. Several years ago, the rival makes of explosives combined together, and subscribed about £100,000 to found an establishment to be devoted to the investigation of the scientific problems on which the successful manufacture of higher explosives is dependent. The work is under the direction of one of the most distinguished professors of chemistry of the University of Berlin, who has under him a staff of highly-trained assistants. The establishment is maintained at a subscription of about £12,000 a year; and it is as referred, as they arise, problems by which subscribers in their individual work are confronted, whilst there is carried on a regular system of research, the results of which are communicated to the subscribers. We have heard, says Engineering, of the institutions, in Germany of this nature before; but we must confess that we did not know they were carried to this extent. That a not very large, although rapidly increasing and doubtless lucrative, trade like that of the making of explosives should be able to collect for the purpose of research such a handsome sum as £100,000 and then add the equally important subscription of £12,000 a year, speaks volumes for the liberal-minded enterprise of German manufacturers. It is the more surprising because the making of explosives has always been one of the most secret arts, and it might well have been expected that mutual jealousies would have prevented the successful formation of the Central Stelle. The German Central Stelle would not be possible were not the system of technical education in that country sufficiently well organised to give a staff of competent investigators and assistants.

A GOOD COUGH-MEDICINE.

[From the Gazette, Toowoomba, Australia.]

I find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is an excellent medicine. I have been suffering from a severe cough for the last two months, and it has effected a cure. I have great pleasure in recommending it.—W. C.

WICKHAM. This is the opinion of one of our oldest and most respected residents, and has been voluntarily given in good faith that others may try the remedy and be benefitted, as was Mr. Wickham. This remedy is sold by all Dealers; WATKINS a new building in Cross Street and died from their injuries.

amounted to £2158 and the assets to two pence.

restoring his sight.

Captain C. S. Knox, of the 1st Gloucester shire Regiment. Deceased was only 29 years of age. Remittent fever was the cause of death.

The British Government has reduced the price of dynamite by £1 per case. We presume this has some reference to South Africa where the Boer Government had granted a monopoly.

An anticipated, Captain R. A. J.

Montgomery, C.D., who was in command of H.M.S. Bonaventure when she was on this station, has been appointed Commodore on the Newfoundland station.

The two youngest brothers of the Shah of Persia, together with the two sons of high Persian dignitaries, arrived in Vienna on the 9th ult. in order to pursue a course of studies at the Theresian Academy.

The Commercial Pacific Cable Company, which has been incorporated to operate the cable between the United States and the Philippines, has filed a certificate increasing its capital to $3,000,000 dollars

(gold).

To-day, a seaman from one of the German merchantmen, after a drunken bout and quarrel, jumped overboard, and swam a considerable distance to the S.S.

Gaelic. He was taken on board in a very exhausted condition, and removed to Hospital.

The N.D.L. Australian liner Prinz

Regent landed a breakdown in the Suez Canal, and had to stop for repairs to her engines. The fact was recorded as follows in an advertisement in the ship's newspaper:—"Lost.—In the Suez Canal, five hours. Information will be gladly received by the Engineer."

runner-up last year, has won the golf

Australian Mail Routes.

A despatch from New York, dated 10th ult., says:—"The Umbria takes the Australia mail due in London, the time occupied being thirty-one days, several shorter than the route, although the route is a thousand miles longer. The saving in time is wholly on the Trans-Continental railways.

Centenarians.

It is not surprising (says Herald) that more people live to be over 100 years old in warm climates than in the higher lati-
